

College of Marin: Science, Math & Nursing

835 College Avenue
Kentfield, California 94904

Like much of Northern California, the College of Marin must contend with both brutal sun and wet fog — conditions perfect for the use of multi-climate workhorse Trespa panels. California Panel Systems created a variety of Trespa panels, across two different colors, to do everything from act as the main building façade to handling sloping radial turns to adding more beautiful coverings for building HVAC. In the end, the rich orange hues and natural green patterns fit perfectly within the redwood tree environment of the college.

